

Incomplete Grades

Course instructors may assign a grade of N at the end of a course if the student is missing any assignments or projects. It is the responsibility of the student to communicate with the instructor and work to finish the course material. If a student fails to do so before a specific period of time specified by the Registrar's Office, the grade of N will be changed into a grade of NF. NF is considered a failing grade and is calculated into the student's GPA accordingly.